

Shinji

Be the person (human being) who understands the meaning of life as you live.

Do you understand why life is finite?

The emotion (gratitude) to make the best of their ties to all of creation is weak in the person (humanity) who does not understand the principles, the truth about life.

Their encounters do not deepen because their understanding about situations and things is materialistic.

The ties between all people and all things deepen when the love that is given is mutual.

The kokoro to give back takes root and trust steadily begins to grow; and you become the person (existence) who meets expectations.

Work is not about receiving compensation.

Your ties to all people and all things deepen when you give back your unmei to society; deep emotions about work are created when mutual ideas grow as love, trust, and expectation come together.

Human beings, who live within a finite period of time (an era) experience the meaning of what it is to live when they give their unmei back to the world (society).

Your life is worth living when you acquire true meaning and purpose in life and leave behind good elements in your Kokoro no Michi.

To the Shinja

The more you learn the teachings and live by the principles, your kokoro (unmei) is honed and you become the person (existence) who gives back to society.

This is the kokoro of the true human being who makes the best of their life (unmei).